

March is Water and Sanitation Month

President's Message
Human Connection

We find comfort and strength in the bonds of community. Our circle of friends and family provide all of us with one of our most powerful survival tools. A system of mutual support that can carry us through the toughest of times. We've come a long way, but please make time to maintain you inner-circle, to reach out to your community, and extend your influence through the most powerful means available - human connection.

This Week's Speaker
History Author

Studies and surveys show that most of us, across all age groups and academic levels, aren't familiar with the basics of our nation's history and don't know how the government works. Randolph C. Russell is the author of American History in No Time, a quick and easy way to learn the fundamentals - in just a few hours. The book has been used at a number of colleges but is easy for anyone to understand. Russell's presentations about American history and civics literacy have been enjoyed by numerous civic groups across the country, including more than a hundred Rotary clubs from Orlando to Kansas City to Las Vegas. Russell is also an accomplished musician who has performed in many European countries and throughout the United States. In business, he held a number of financial management positions with companies in Georgia and Florida. Russell holds degrees from the University of Miami and the University of Florida.

New Member Profile

Langdon Hollingsworth

Born and raised in Roswell, Langdon is an Industrial Engineer who has dedicated his professional career to public service.

After graduation from Georgia Tech, he spent two years living in the remote Darien province of Panama working for a clean water nonprofit, Soles Water, that brought fresh drinking water to thousands of people across the country. He was heavily involved in the expansion of Soles Water by developing a partnership with the local nonprofit, Lunches for Learning, that raised funds to install community-sized filters in four schools in the Nacosome Valley.

Now in graduate school studying Humanitarian Logistics and Business Administration, Langdon hopes to learn a new set of valuable skills that can be applied to increase the efficiency of non-profits operating both locally, and in Latin America.
