Monday's Speaker: Chef Kevin Rathbun

Chef Kevin Rathbun's passion for food and hospitality started in Kansas City, where he started as a dishwasher. Following culinary school, Rathbun went on to New Orleans, Dallas, Houston and Atlanta to work with celebrity chefs and restaurateurs including Bradley Ogden, Emeril Lagasse, Stephen Pyles, Ella Brennan and Pano Karantassos. In 1994, he was nominated for the James Beard Award's "Rising Star Chef" for his work at Baby Ruth. By 1996, he opened two different flagship restaurants with Buckhead Life Restaurant Group and served as the Corporate Executive Chef, overseeing several restaurants for the group. Rathbun then ventured out on his own in 2004 to open Rathbun's. King Bar, Kevin Rathbun Steak and K2 Steakhouse followed.
