Program Schedule

Next Week: Georgia World Congress Center - Mark Zimmerman

Today: Tucker Historical Society – Matthew Lee

Last Week: Jerry Carnes – Channel 11

The Rotary Club of Tucker welcomes Jerry Carnes, a veteran news reporter who has worked for Channel 11 for over 20 years. He has worked in the broadcasting field for over 25 years. His first job was as a broadcaster in Columbus, GA. Since those days, he has worked in Huntsville, AL, Greenville, SC, Athens, GA, and he came to Atlanta in the early 1990's. Mr. Carnes remarked how the broadcasting business has greatly changed in the last five years. With the onset of the digital age and social media, stories last forever. Highly developed cameras as well as cell phones have very definitely influenced the way news is broadcast to the public. News stories now are catered to the different audiences and the way they process information. In his coverage of the traffic in Atlanta, the most congested areas are I-85 coming from Gwinnett and I-75 coming from Cobb. Personally speaking, Jerry Carnes is a prostate cancer survivor, and as part of his presentation, he stressed the importance of men getting appropriate medical check-ups and follow-up.
